IM Harris

"provide" vs. "provide with" - English Language & Usage Stack ... The verb provide has two different subcategorisation frames: provide something [ to somebody] provide somebody with something In the first, the material provided is the object, in the second the recipient is the object. Both are valid, and both are in common use. The difference between them is the with phrase, which must be there to get meaning 2: if ... "I and someone", "me and someone" or "I and someone we" 40 "I and someone are interested" is grammatically correct. It is the convention in English that when you list several people including yourself, you put yourself last, so you really should say "Someone and I are interested." "Someone and I" is the subject of the sentence, so you should use the subjective case "I" rather than the objective "me". If you are talking "on behalf of" you and someone else, what is the ... I looked at a bunch of style guides to see what they have to say on this subject. The vast majority of them dedicate at least a paragraph to the distinction (or nondistinction) between "in behalf of" and "on behalf of"—but not one addresses the question of how to handle "on behalf of" when used by a speaker to refer to another person and to him- or herself. This silence leads me to believe ... What would you call a person who is being replaced by another May 12, 2015 · In my specific case, I need a single word to call an employee who is being replaced by another due to his/her retirement, death, resignation etc. Anything like "Replacee" may be suitable. Is there a word to describe when someone has super-sensitive ... Mar 18, 2016 · What word or phrase could be used to accurately describe when someone has excellent or super-sensitive hearing far beyond that of most people, where they might have, for example: the ability to hea... phrasal verbs - 'visit someone' vs. 'visit with someone' - English ... Nov 28, 2024 · I am wondering what difference between 'visit someone' and 'visit with someone' there is. In Oxford Learner's Dictionaries Visit with (North American English) to spend time with somebody, especially What's it called when someone imposes his own beliefs and ... Dec 12, 2016 · When someone forces his own ideology, beliefs and thoughts on someone else and not allow them to think for themselves? For example: when a head chairman state his opinion about a political candidate and makes everyone else in the department approve of him and refuse anyone else to belief anything but what they said. difference between "engage with someone" and "engage ... Engage with somebody means, as others have said, to interact with that person, usually from a position of greater power (managers are frequently exhorted to engage with employees, but rarely the other way round). Engage somebody has many possible meanings, depending on context: the army engage the enemy, you may engage somebody in conversation by simply going up and speaking to him, a pretty ... Usage of + or ++ in emails - English Language & Usage Stack ... Nov 18, 2019 · I would agree with instinct71. It's used as follows: - say an email is sent to a list of recipients, but someone was omitted or the topic needs to include other recipient (s). The new recipient (s) are added to the To: or CC: fields and their names are also added to the body of the email with a ++ or + , just to inform everyone on the current distribution that ... formality - Formal way to tell someone they accidentally sent you ... I have received an email from someone at work. He's quite senior and probably would get quite angry to get an "accusing" message like: I wasn't supposed to get this email. It looks like you sent ...
