Siyuan Liu

Bengali Cinema Sharmistha Gooptu, 2010-11 Covering the years spanning cinema's emergence as a popular form in Bengal in the first half of the twentieth century, this book examines the main genres and trends produced by this cinema, and leads up to Bengali cinema's last phase of transition in the 1980s. Arguing that Bengali cinema has been a key economic and social institution, the author highlights that the Bengali filmic imaginary existed over and above the imaginary of the Indian nation. This book argues that a definitive history of Bengali cinema presents an alternative understanding to the currently influential notion of the Hindi film as the 'Indian' or 'national' cinema. It suggests that the Bengali cinema presents a history which brings to the fore the deeply contested terrain of 'national' cinema, and shows the creation of the 'alternative imaginary' of the Bengali film. The author indicates that the case of the Bengali cinema demonstrates the emergence of a public domain that set up a definitive discourse of difference with respect to the 'all-India' Hindi film, popularly classified as Bollywood cinema, and which pre-empted its subsumption within the more pervasive culture of the Bombay Hindi cinema. As the first comprehensive historical work on Bengali cinema, this book makes a significant contribution to both Film and Cultural Studies and South Asian Studies in general.

Unreal Boy Sanjib Sinha, 2024-08-11 'Unreal Boy' is a psychological, erotic thriller which is unique in that it sheds light on mental health issues that are not often discussed openly, such as, urolagnia, trichophilia, voyeurism. The plot follows the complicated relationship between a nineteen-year-old student named Amitakkhar (Ami) and two girls - named Nila, an intelligent and beautiful courtesan, and Mili, his college-sweetheart. The story centers on Ami, who has been suffering from sex-addiction which is followed by occasional delusion from his childhood, and he is pitifully torn between his love for both girls and the regrets of his inability to share all his secrets-and-sins with someone. As the story progresses, readers are left to wonder whether Mili, Nila, Ratna (another courtesan and a torturous brothel madam in the story who tries to kill Nila), seductive Munna, and a mysterious woman aunt Sushila, are real-life characters or born out of Ami's delusion and manic sex-addiction that he has been nurturing since adolescence. The book explores the themes of love, betrayal, sins, and self-discovery and as the story progresses, secrets, lies, and a dark past unfold.

The Making of Modern Hindi Sujata S. Mody, 2018-08-22 In the early twentieth century, British imperialism in India was at its peak and anti-colonial sentiments were on the rise. The nationalist desire for cultural self-identification was gaining ground and an important articulation of this was the demand for a national language and literature to represent a modern India. It was in this context that Mahavir Prasad Dwivedi, a novel, daring, and contentious litterateur, launched his multimedia campaign of constructing a new Hindi literary establishment. As the long-time editor of the Hindi journal Sarasvatī, Dwivedi's influence was so far-reaching that this period of modern literature in Hindi is known as the Dwivedi era. However, he had to face stiff opposition as well. Sujata Mody's book sheds light on the interactions between Dwivedi and his supporters and detractors and shows how Dwivedi's responses to challenges were pragmatic and strategically varied. The Making of Modern Hindi presents Dwivedi as a dynamic and influential arbiter of literary modernity whose exchanges with competing authorities are an important piece in the history of Hindi literature.

Hindu Pasts Vasudha Dalmia, 2017-07-31 In her introduction to Hindu Pasts—which showcases her work as a scholar of social, literary, and religious history—Vasudha Dalmia outlines the central ideas which thread her writings: first, to understand in greater historical depth the relationship between body language, religion, and society in India, as well as the ever-changing role of its religious and social institutions; second, to recognize that the Hindu tradition, which colonials and nationalists tend to see as monolithic, is in fact a multiplicity of distinct and semi-autonomous strands.

The author contends that the development of Hindi cinema has been largely centered round the frontal figure of the hero. South Asian Pornographies Darshana Sreedhar Mini, Anirban K. Baishya, 2024-06-21 South Asian Pornographies is the first consolidated volume that explores the relationships between pornography, obscenity, law and desire in South Asia. Focusing on case studies from India, Sri Lanka and Bangladesh while gesturing towards other countries in South Asia, the authors of this volume come from fields as varied as history, literature, media and communication, and the visual arts. The book proposes that as a geo-political location, South Asia has a unique relationship to pornography, given the multiplicity of cultural and legal-censorial regimes that define the obscene and the permissible. South Asian case studies can demonstrate how pornography in the region is often defined in oblique terms, finding reflection in various modes of popular (and sometimes underground) culture, bypassing legal and censorial constraints. Like questions of identity that can only be answered in the plural (identities rather than identity), this book demonstrates how a range of pornographies constitutes the force field of sexualized media in South Asia. It will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of Communication Studies, Cultural Studies, Film Studies, History, Sociology, and Social and Cultural Anthropology. The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Porn Studies.
