How I lost 130 Pounds Dumitru Balmez, 2020-04-07 Dear Reader, This is my story and I truly believe that my experience and my research over losing weight, done during years, could help many others to find the exit from this bad dream of being oversized. For the ones thinking that there is no way out (I'm sure it may be a lot and even you may be one of them), I can tell you that it is possible and that it is not so tough at all to do it. Because it is not only about losing weight for good, it is about a profound transformation of our lives. It is about why we are fat and finding the right motivation to change this, the way we eat, why and how we exercise, what else to change and why, everything explained in a very accessible style. My book is not only for adult persons. I would be happy if my book will help parents with oversized children or children themselves, reading this book. Childhood is the foundation of our lives and children needs our help and guidance for have a happy and healthy (physical and mental) life from the very beginning. Because it is easier and better to correct something earlier but prevention is the best. Reading the book is not the end of our relationship. Why Are We Always Indoors? Paul Armstrong, 2020-08-10 Why Are We Always Indoors? (...unless we're off to Barnard Castle) is a personal chronicle of the strangest and darkest football close season in modern history. Having studied politics at university, Paul Armstrong spent much of his career running BBC TV's Match of the Day, then wrote the memoir Why Are We Always On Last? which was published in 2019. In March 2020, he embarked on a journal of London lockdown life against the backdrop of the coronavirus pandemic. This eventually spanned the 105 days between MOTD's Premier League highlights being removed from the schedules and returning in June. Musings and anecdotes about sport, TV, music and life under lockdown became increasingly overshadowed by the mounting tragedy, and a sense of despair and anger at how the crisis was handled at the highest level. This was informed by a lifetime of studying and following politics and by a network of contacts from television and sport, and in various other affected walks of life. A first-hand account of a slice of living history, conveyed with dark humour and a sense of urgency and immediacy.
