André Bazin's Film Theory Angela Dalle Vacche, 2020 Through metaphors and allusions to art, science, and religion, André Bazin's writings on the cinema explore a simple yet profound question: what is a human? For the famous French film critic, a human is simultaneously a rational animal and an irrational being. Bazin's idea of the cinema is a mind-machine where the ethical implications have priority over aesthetic issues. And in its ability to function as an art form for the masses, cinema is the only medium that can address an audience at the individual and community levels simultaneously-- the audience sees the same film, but each individual relates to the narrative in a different way. In principle, cinema can unsettle our routines in productive ways and expand our sense of belonging to a much larger picture. By arguing that this dissident Catholic's worldview is anti-anthropocentric, Angela Dalle Vacche concludes that André Bazin's idea of the cinema recapitulates the histories of biological evolution and modern technology inside our consciousness. Through the projection of recorded traces of the world onto a brain-like screen, the cinema can open viewers up to self-interrogation and empathy towards Otherness. Bazin was neither a spiritualist nor an animist or a pantheist, yet his film theory leads also to ideas of a more cosmological persuasion: through editing and camera movement, cinema explores our belonging to a vast universe that extends from the microbes of the microscope to the stars of the telescope. Such ideas of connectedness, coupled with Bazin's well-known emphasis of realism, form the foundation for his film theory's embrace of Italian neorealism. Choosing to avoid a quantitative naturalism based on accumulation of details, Bazin's theory instead promotes the kind of cinema that celebrates perceptual displacement, the objectification of human behavior, and one's own critical self-awareness.

Intersectionality in Anglophone Television Series and Cinema Kévin Drif, Georges-Claude Guilbert, 2020-10-15 This book takes an intersectional approach to explore gender, race, ethnicity and social class in television series and films produced by English-speaking countries. Starting from Kimberlé Crenshaw's 1989 concept of intersectionality, and encompassing film studies, television studies, cultural studies, gender studies, Queer theory, African American studies, and post-colonial studies, this volume sheds light not only on revealing intersectional elements of on-screen fiction, but also on the very nature of intersectional criticism.

Understanding Rancière, Understanding Modernism Patrick M. Bray, 2017-03-23 The contemporary philosopher Jacques Rancière has become over the last two decades one of the most influential voices in philosophy, political theory, and literary, art historical, and film criticism. His work reexamines the divisions that have defined our understanding of modernity, such as art and politics, representation and abstraction, and literature and philosophy. Working across these divisions, he engages the historical roots of modernism at the end of the eighteenth century, uncovering forgotten texts in the archive that trouble our notions of intellectual history. The contributors to Understanding Rancière, Understanding Modernism engage with the multiplicity of Rancière's thought through close readings of his texts, through comparative readings with other philosophers, and through an engagement with modernist works of art and literature. The final section of the volume includes an extended glossary of the most important terms used by Rancière, which will be a valuable resource for experts and students alike.

Les Trente Glorieuses du cinéma chinois Jun LIU, 2025-02-05 Depuis l'ouverture du régime sous la direction de Deng Xiaoping et durant les trente années qui ont suivi, la production de films en Chine a explosé, parallèlement au bond en avant de la société. Les Chinois, comme le reste des spectateurs dans le monde entier, ont assisté à une importante création d'œuvres cinématographiques prenant le contre-pied des traditions socialistes précédentes. De nombreuses œuvres parmi ces films ont raflé des prix aux festivals internationaux de cinéma. Elles ont ainsi contribué à dessiner une image nouvelle de la Chine et un art fascinant les passionnés de cinéma. Parcourant l'histoire de cette révolution artistique conduite par l'avant-garde chinoise du 7^e art, l'autrice — artiste et enseignante en France — en propose une rare analyse sociologique et culturelle, croisant à l'occasion le point de vue occidental et le point de vue chinois.

L'interculturel à travers le multimédia dans l'enseignement du français langue étrangère RIVERO VILA, Isabel, 2014-12-01 The objective of our research has been to promote intercultural analysis from the target language and culture in Francophone film sequences. These film sequences have allowed us to expose the learner to intercultural aspects of language and Francophone cultures. We aim to develop intercultural skills of the learner from engaging teaching units, also available on our website. We have created a teaching approach where intercultural communication anticipates the situations; locates the communicative interferences; develops cultural and linguistic skills and promotes intercultural dialogue based on representative sequences on day-to-day Francophone life. Thus, we have created and also developed existing approaches in teaching French as a foreign language (actionnelle approche, input structuré, lexiculture, etc). Finally, with this research we wanted to respond to the current lack in educational publishing: the teaching of the language - culture in French as a foreign language (FLE) based in Francophone multiculturalism represented in current Francophone movies. We consider Francophone multiculturalism as an essential element in teaching FLE since it allows to train our learners both in a sociocultural and linguistic level so that they can participate fully in the Francophone world
