Ebrei nella terraferma veneta del Quattrocento Gian Maria Varanini,Reinhold C. Mueller,2005 This book is a collection of the proceedings of the study seminar held in Verona on 14 November 2003. This was the occasion for the presentation of the results of archive research performed by young researchers on the Jewish presence in numerous cities and smaller towns of the Venetian hinterland in the fifteenth century (Vicenza, Verona, Treviso, Feltre, and the minor centres of the Polesine and Verona and Vicenza territory). The various themes that are developed through attentive and documented analysis include: the autonomous initiative of the civic communities in the relation with the Jewish moneylenders and the attitude of Venice, divided between protection and the anti-Jewish tensions that were widespread among the lagoon nobility; the encounter and dialectic between the Ashkenazi and Italian components in the communities settled within the cities and hamlets of Veneto; the difference of the social and cultural climate between the first and second half of the fifteenth century, marked by incisive Franciscan preaching and attempts at expulsion from the cities; a look 'from the inside' which opens up the role of women in the economic life of the Jewish communities. Over twenty years after the convention on 'The Jews and Venice' promoted by the Fondazione Cini, these contributions illustrate the revival of study and the ever-present need for comparison and exchange on the issue of the Jewish presence in Italy.

A Forest on the Sea Karl Appuhn,2009 The idea of a Venetian forestry service might strike one as the beginning of a joke. The statement that it began in the fourteenth century would surprise most people. Venice is built on a lagoon with no timber resources. This book reveals the story of Venice's attempt to establish protected forests in order to have a constant supply of wood. Beyond the need for wood for heating and cooking, tall beams of oak and beech were needed for ship building and the shoring up of breakwaters that kept the sea from flooding the city. The author follows the practice of forest conservation and management from its inception in the 1300s to the end of the eighteenth century. He details the administrative and legal debates as well as problems with the implementation of policies. This study is a corrective to histories that assume a lack of interest in forest conservation in Europe at this time. The experience of the Venetians also serves as an example for timber use and conservation today.

I giardini delle Muse. Il patrimonio culturale ed ambientale in Italia dalla Costituente all'istituzione del Ministero (1946-1975) Ragusa,2014 Nell'Italia del secondo dopoguerra, tra la ricostruzione ed il decollo del miracolo economico, anche il patrimonio culturale, riconosciuto come oggetto di un diritto fondamentale al godimento della bellezza e del sapere da tutte le costituzioni europee, rappresentò un aspetto centrale delle politiche che definirono i nuovi apparati di tutela e di sicurezza sociale. Con uno studio analitico del dibattito parlamentare, cui si accompagna la considerazione del confronto intercorso sulla stampa specialistica e generica, il libro offre un contributo originale all'esame di un tema della politica pubblica italiana sin qui non considerato con sufficiente attenzione, individuando nell'istituzione del Ministero per i beni culturali ed ambientali e nell'azione svolta sotto il coordinamento di Giovanni Spadolini il punto d'arrivo di una storia cominciata sin dai decenni precedenti l'Unità. Una storia di generazioni, di gruppi e personalità, che nella maturazione progressiva di una coscienza protezionista, si mostra oggi, nel nostro paese, più che mai attuale.--
